

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This thesis is outcome of an intensive research work carried out in the Sundaridia Sattrra, of District Barpeta. To complete a research project, the help and co-operation of learned individuals like teachers, friends and institutions as well as is essentially important. With a great sense of attitude, I would like to put on record the names of the following persons who extended their guidance, support and considerable help in preparation of this thesis.

First and foremost, I express my deep sense of gratitude and sincere regards to my respected guide Proffesor Rani Hazarika Kakati, Department of Anthropology, Gauhati University. This work could not have been completed without her sustained enthusiastic interest, ever willing help, active guidance and constant encouragement throughout the course of investigation.

I would like to thanks Dr. Birinchi Kumar Medhi, Professor in the Department of Anthropology, Gauhati University, for his valuable suggestions during the progress of the work. During the course of the study, I have taken the opportunity to discuss various matters pertaining to my study, with the teachers in Anthropology, Gauhati University. Their suggestions and comments have helped me a great deal. I am extremely grateful to all of them.

Next, I would remain ungrateful if I do not acknowledge with reverence, the help and hospitality of His Holiness Sri Sri Jagannath Adhikari, Sattradhikar (Principal Custodian) of Sundaridia Sattrra. Special mention in this regard goes to Sri Apurba Das, Secretary, Sri Padmanath Ojah, the Internal Auditor and Mrinal Talukdar, Treasurer and other members of the Sattrra Management Committee.

All works on Sattras and particularly on Srimanta Sankaradeva and Srimanta Madhavadeva have benefited me immensely. While collecting materials I had to approach many of the educational and research institutions of the State like the Krishna Kanta Handique Library, Gauhati University, Library of the Indian Council for Historical Research, Gauhati University, Vivekananda Kendra Institute of Culture, Guwahati, District Library, Guwahati, and Kamrup Anusandhan Samity, Guwahati. I acknowledge my gratefulness to all these institutions.

For words of encouragement and also extending support and co-operation, I express my profound gratitude to my parents and brother Mr. Kailash Chandra Das, Mrs. Akani Das and Gunjan Das and my father-in-law Mr. Santo Ram Kalita and mother-in-law Mrs. Lila Medhi. I would like to take this opportunity to offer my heartfelt thanks to my brother-in-law Mr. Bikash kalita who helped me a lot.

My husband Mr. Bijoy Krishna Kalita extended unweaving support and encouragement in completing the work. He deserves thanks and appreciation for typing the thesis with utmost care and patience. I owe a lot to my two year old son, Rudra, who also supported me in his own way. The constant support and words of cheer of my elder sisters Mili, Juli, nephew Milky, Silky, Jiu and cousin Binita.

No amount of words is sufficient to acknowledge the help and co-operation given to me by Mr. Kalyan Kalita, Mr. Chandan Mazumdar and Mr. Ratneswar Das, Mr. Akhil Kakati, Mr. Azharul Islam Talukdar Md. Mustafijur Rahman, Mr. Indrajit Das. All the credit of printing and doing all the related works for finally producing the thesis goes to Mr. Pranjal Kakati, Ms. Kuntala Kakati, Mr. Nayan Das, Mr. Sanjib Roy and Mr. Monoj Roy for their tireless efforts for completing the work on time.

I also undertake that this thesis or any part of it was not submitted elsewhere by me for any research degree to this university or any other university or institution.
